“ Dear Family of Jayne,

Just read an e-mail today from a mutual friend telling me of Jayne's passing. My heartfelt sympathies go out to all of you. I will miss the opportunity to see her again in this life.

I met Jayne in 2004 when I was part of the Hartford Citizens for Responsible Gov't group in which she was also active. We shared respect and fondness for one another, which eventually included the man I married in '07. Every time we'd meet, either in a group setting with friends, or out at the grocery store, there were big hugs all around, laughing smiles, good humor and honest warm feelings for having seen each other again.

From the time I met her she was always going to move back to Florida, just as soon as she could sell her condo. These WI winters were just TOO HARD on her. And I teased her about it every time we met....."You're still HERE?!?!" I loved her spunk and feistiness, interest in the community in which she lived and the willingness to be involved in ways which might just make things better.

Thank you for sharing a photo of her from days gone by.....WOW, what a stunningly beautiful and refined woman she was! I can always see the 'youth' in a person as they age, looking into their eyes, their soul, and past anything time has faded on the outside, but photos like this one really are worth a thousand words. If she'd have shared photos like this with me, I've no doubt we'd have had fun reminiscing about her younger days.

Sadly, personal circumstances have prevented my holiday mailings, thus my contact with her the past 3 Christmases. We always enjoyed each others greetings and updates. Certainly, if I'd known of her failing condition, I'd have remembered her with well-wishes at Cedar. Sorry to have missed sharing caring thoughts one more time.

Grateful for her friendship and the opportunity to have known her, I will always remember this classy, gray-haired lady zooming about town in her zippy convertible Mazda Miata! I got a huge kick out of her refusal to allow chronological age dictate life choices, and my husband totally coveted that car. Truly an unforgettable sort of gal!

Jayne, while our time together was short, and the privilege to share our personal histories, few, we none-the-less heartfully thank you for the happy memories and mutual admiration!! Goodbye friend.

“ I first met Jayne shortly after I came to live in Hartford in August of 2007. I met her through mutual friends and we all played cards together. Jayne loved to play Hand and Foot, the great card game we learned from other friends. She was a good player and it was always fun to be her partner. We laughed at so many silly things old ladies laugh at. We all played at the home of Dorothy Weiss until it was just too much work for her. Dorothy is now 92 or 93. We also played at Ridgedale , the Condo I live at, in our beautiful community room. Jayne was a fun person to be around and was generous with bringing treats when we played at Ridgedale. She talked about her family often. I have not seen her lately since we no longer play cards. I hope her last days were peaceful.

I will try to make the visitation if my fever is gone from the very bad cold/virus I have had since February 17th.
