“ Sherry and family,

I just found out about your loss through our cousins that just reconnected within the last year. There are no words other than I am sorry for you loss that can begin to help you in your sorrow. I hope that you have a good support group around you. I pray that you will find some peace within that pain.

I have tried locating you and your parents (your brothers, too) since the last address and phone number I had didn't work any longer.

Let me know if there is anything I can do to help.
